

HURRICANE PREPPING FOR CHICKENS

HOW TO PREP YOUR FLOCK FOR THE STORM AHEAD

FEED

Purchase an extra bag of feed on the off chance your supplier can't get any in during the clean up. Do not use feed that has been soaked with rain/flood waters.

WATER

Keep 3-4 days worth of clean water stored for your chickens in case the power goes out.

MEDICINE

Vitamins, minerals, or electrolytes can be beneficial for chickens who are stressed out during the storm. Add to water for 1-2 days.

COOP PREPARATION

Clear debris surrounding coop to reduce flying hazards. Zip tie a tarp around open areas to protect from wind and rain. Lock chickens inside the coop during the storm, making sure they can access food and water.

BRING CHICKENS INSIDE

If possible, bring chickens inside your garage/laundry/bathroom to provide a low stress environment. Cover the floor with a tarp and use dog crates/boxes/etc to contain chickens.
