How Can I Help You Today?

When was the last time you cleaned the dishes or made dinner, not because it was your turn but because you can? It is easy to forget the ones we need to serve the most is our family and other people we care the most about. Start each day by asking "How can I help you today?"

WATER

When you feel thirsty it can be the first sign you are dehydrated. Water is important for our bodies to function including keeping our bodies' temperature consistent. You can easily become dehydrated, and why is important that you drink water more often when it is hot outside or very active.
